

Know the Equation for Perfect Health

Dr. Carey Reams, Bio-physicist, and Chemist, was known as an Einsteinian mathematical genius. His research in the field of nutrition has revolutionized the way we understand and treat disease. Our current use and application of hair analysis was implemented first by Dr. Reams. His objective was to develop a simple method whereby he could evaluate the cause and effect of energy exchanges in body chemistry as they relate to health and disease.

Dr. Reams conducted every conceivable analytical test on various samples of body tissue and bodily fluids. He found that of the samples analyzed all but two provided redundant information; these two substances are urine and saliva. Through his continuous studies he realized that urine/saliva provide all necessary information to mathematically analyze the entire body chemistry, and so the Equation for Perfect Health was developed.

$$CS + [ 1.5 \ 6.4/6.4 \ 6-7 \ C \ .04 \ M \ 3/3 ] = pH$$

CS (Common Sense) plus the equation for [the ideal line of least resistance in body chemistry] equals pH (perfect Health).

Mathematics is a universal language. Numbers can be used to describe objects in many different ways and on many different planes. For example, the structural arrangement of minerals can be expressed by the equation seen above denoting the shape, color, size, density and overall condition of each organ. When this information is linked with specifics such as age, race, sex, weight, and height – a picture begins to form that reveals potential as well as apparent symptomatology.

The equation is not just a series of numbers, it is a sequence of mathematical ratios that are interrelated in a very complex way. The sequence of these numbers reflects the many relationships between body systems, functions, organs and chemistry. As in any equation a change in one number reflects a change in all the numbers. The vast potential of ratios described in this equation is practically inconceivable. So large in fact that it can only be expressed as an exponential power. There is an extraordinary possibility of conditions that this equation can express. Once we understand the relationship between the numbers we are then able to interpret it's meaning.

Reams was able to detect with remarkable accuracy, the location and severity of most maladies in the body using this equation. He discovered the further away from ideal a person's chemistry drifted the greater the degree of illness. It was also discovered that individuals who experienced miraculous healings had body chemistry within the perfect range. He called his ionization analysis method (IAM) "The Reams Biological Theory of Ionization".

Ionization, as it relates to nutrition, is the process of breaking down food into useable life energy and then reconstructing that energy on our own frequency to form new cells. To achieve success in nutrition it is necessary to have the ability to measure this process. I AM gives us that ability.

I AM is derived from the foundational work of Dr. Reams and provides health practitioners with a simple, non-invasive test that could be done in less than 10 minutes using standard laboratory instruments. No blood is required. No diagnosis is given. Utilizing the urine and saliva we now have the ability to measure the cause and effect of applied nutrition.

I AM is designed to restore energy, balance the chemistry and provide the proper environment so the body can heal itself. The body heals itself when the proper biological chemistry exists. When proper biological chemistry exists there is balance, where there is balance there is perfect health.

I AM has proven that body chemistry reacts to physical, mental and emotional lifestyle changes. I AM is able to identify the specific physical, mental and emotional lifestyle changes appropriate for each unique individual. Monitoring the body chemistry it is possible to determine the specific foods and/or supplements appropriate for bringing balance back to an inappropriate chemistry. You will notice a difference in how you look and feel within a matter of days.

Restored Energy + Balanced Chemistry = Perfect Health

We are committed to providing you with the best resources and information necessary to live a long and healthy life. Begin living a life free of degenerative disease, free of chronic pain, and free of prescription drugs. Outstanding mental function, emotional health, physical stamina and optimism can be yours. Perfect Health is just a phone call away.
